Eaglet News

The Spring term is always an exciting one...children are settled and familiar with routines, and we can really start to get our teeth into our learning. And there has certainly been some very exciting learning happening in Early Years this week!

In Nursery we've been exploring superheroes. We developed our inference and speaking skills as we looked at different pictures of superheroes and talked about what their superpowers might be, based on clues within the picture.

In Reception, we began looking at the text Blue Penguin. This is a wonderful story about friendship, identity, and differences. We learnt some amazing facts about Antarctica, and did some great work developing our ability to empathise with a character through some hot-seating and debate! In our PSHE lessons we have been thinking about our attitude to challenge and why we should persevere when we find things difficult.
